Want to swap for something without grizzly bears (or fewer, anyway)
11.5 wooded acres of land on the Nowitna River in Alaska. The property is accessible year round by boat, plane or snow machine. It is a popular destination for big game hunters due to the high population of moose, black bear and brown bear in the area. The river is known for its northern pike and arctic grayling fishing and is easily navigated by canoe. No property tax. No HOA. No building restrictions.
